

ARREST OF BELL
BOY MAY SOLVE
HOTEL THEFTS

Is Held on Request of New York Officials, Who Believe They Have Clue to Many Recent Robberies in St. Louis.

POLICE SAY THEY HAVE PARTIAL CONFESSION

Washington Hotel Employee Admits He Has at His Home Several Stolen Articles—Girl, Arrested With Him, Held as Witness.

Vernon Lowder, a bellboy at the Washington Hotel, Washington boulevard and King's highway, was arrested Saturday, on advice from New York authorities, in connection with the arrest there of Arthur Fraser, a bellboy at the Metropole Hotel.

When arrested, Lowder carried a letter signed "Arthur Fraser," stating that $25 was enclosed and represented pawn money on jewelry which Lowder had sent him.

The police believe that the arrest will clear up the mystery of the many robberies at the Washington and perhaps other St. Louis hotels.

Lowder was arrested at his home, 1415 Burd avenue, Florence Bell of the same address, was also arrested. Both were taken to the Four Courts, where Lowder was taken to the private office of Acting Chief Keeley and "sweated."

Keeley states that Lowder made a partial confession to having taken jewelry from the Washington Hotel when he was drunk. He is said to have told the police that opera glasses, stockings and other jewelry recently missed at the hotel could be found in the basement of his home.

Detectives were immediately detailed on the case. Miss Bell was taken by the officers to show them the location of the supposed property. She will be held pending the result of the investigation.

Local police began to work on the theory that stolen property from St. Louis hotels was being forwarded to New York. They pawned when Fraser was arrested Thursday at the Metropole Hotel in New York. A letter signed "Victor Lowder" was found in his possession. The letter stated that jewelry "that ought to bring $1000" was on the way to New York.

The New York police claim to have secured other statements from Fraser. The police believe that if they have not "Victor Lowder" in the person of Lowder, the latter's arrest will lead to the apprehension of the former.

Lowder states that he did not receive the $25 mentioned in the letter from Fraser as being enclosed. He says it was not there.

The largest of the recent robberies occurring at the Washington Hotel was that in which Mrs. Crouch, wife of a wealthy horse owner of Lafayette, Ind., lost property valued at $3000. The robbery occurred early in September.

Mrs. Crouch was absent from her room for only a few minutes. When she returned she found her bag, containing diamonds, pearls and other jewelry, missing. A bellboy at the hotel was suspected and was questioned at the Four Courts, but was released and held his place at the hotel.

SNAPSHOTS ON THE P-I-K-E TODAYAUTO CUP RACE
PROTESTED BY ALBERT CLEMENT

One Man Killed and Several Injured in the Chase for the Vanderbilt Trophy on the Long Island Road Course.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—Clement protested the decision of the judges declaring Heath the winner of the race. The decision was withdrawn and the protest will be heard and a winner declared at a meeting of the automobile association later in the day.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—George Heath, an American, driving an imported car and representing the Automobile Club of France, today won the William K. Vanderbilt, Jr., cup in the 300-mile road race held on Long Island under the auspices of the Automobile Club of America. He won by the narrow margin of 1 minute and 28 seconds.

The contest cost one life and at least four persons were injured, none of them representing the race. The accident occurred to the car of George Arents, Jr., a wealthy New Yorker, and the man killed was Karl Mensel, his chauffeur. Arents' car was No. 5, and he was driving at a tremendous speed, when just as he approached a sharp curve on the Hempstead road a front tire slipped and the great 60-horse power machine went over. Both Arents and Mensel were hurled with tremendous force to the roadway. Both were picked up unconscious and hurried to a hospital where Mensel died in a short while. Mr. Arents' injuries are said not to be of a serious character.

All of those injured were connected in some way with the race, most of them being helpers.

Heath, the winner, covered the 300 miles in 5h. 26m. 45s., and Clement, the second man in 5h. 28m. and 13s. Clement entered a protest against Heath being declared the winner, on the ground that his time had not been taken according to the conditions which were to govern the race. In spite of the precautions at the railroad crossings, Gabriel, who led the race for several laps, had two narrow escapes.

The first when he crossed the tract at Minola barely 30 feet ahead of a rapidly moving train. Again at Queens an engine barely backed off the crossing as he dashed across.

Heath claims that he was held up in Hempstead street over a minute and a half while making repairs to his gasoline tank. This time, he claims, under the rules governing the contest should have been deducted from his actual time. Clement also said there were several other matters which he intended to bring before the association at the meeting which has been called to receive his formal protest.

JANTZOW FORCES
GIVE NEW TURN
TO TESTIMONY

Four Witnesses Say Henry F. Mueller, Aged Defendant, Publicly Exonerated Pastor From Charge of "Meddling" in Schwartz Case.

MADE PASTOR'S ACCUSER
TAKE BACK STATEMENTS

Further Dealings of Late Frederick Schwartz With Bethlehem Evangelical Congregation Are Revealed—Witness Admits He Rules Against Employer.

The Jantzow forces enjoyed a field day this morning in room 509 Railway Exchange building, four witnesses testifying positively that Henry F. Mueller had twice publicly absolved the pastor of the Bethlehem Evangelical Church from all responsibility in the case of Frederick Schwartz, the speculating grain dealer, whose failure cost Pastor Jantzow's congregation more than $300,000.

It is this charge of "meddling," reiterated on the witness stand by Henry F. Mueller, that has figured so prominently in the suit for $45,000 damages brought by Pastor Jantzow against 18 members of his congregation, whom he charges with conspiracy and defamation of character.

Mr. Mueller, who resides at 324 North Eleventh street, is president of the Bethlehem congregation and is regarded as its wealthiest member.

In 1896 Mueller became heavily involved in the speculations of Schwartz, and now charges that Pastor Jantzow broke church precepts when he interceded in Schwartz's behalf.

Out of the main charge have grown others to the effect that Pastor Jantzow was a "liar," was dishonest and had prevented the word of God. These statements, bandied about in the congregation, created such dissension that Pastor Jantzow says in self-defense he was forced to bring a civil suit against his alleged defamers and those who have supported them.

When on the witness stand Tuesday, Mr. Mueller, in a dramatic fashion, laid out the financial troubles of Bethlehem Church in connection with the Schwartz affair directly at the door of Pastor Jantzow. Pastor Jantzow, he stated, had on numerous occasions visited him (Mueller) and requested the wealthy president to lend Schwartz money. The latter had threatened to commit suicide in the pastor's house if he was not assisted, according to Pastor Jantzow's statement.

Testimony to the contrary of that of Mueller came as a distinct surprise today, the twelfth of the deposition trial. The men examined were not defendants.

Says Mueller
Defended Jantzow.
The first witness called was John T. Bolz, cooperator dealer, 62 years of age, of 150 Bremen avenue. Mr. Bolz, pastor of the Bethlehem church for 22 years. Of that time he had been church member for 30 years.

"How long," Mr. Smith asked, "have you known the defendant, Henry F. Mueller?"
"Were you present at any time at which Mueller and Mr. Fred Jantzow were connected with the Schwartz affair?"

"Yes, after one of our elder meetings Mr. Ulrich Sr. upbraided Pastor Jantzow for meddling. Mr. Mueller called him down sharp, and said that Jantzow is as innocent as a newborn babe, he was not the cause of a penny being lost."

ANNA BENTLEY
LIVES IN FEAR
OF SASSAMAN

Man She Accuses of Killing "Carl Miller" and Hiding the Body in a Well, Has Threatened Her With Death and She Believes He Will Kill Her.

OFFICERS FIND NO
TRACE OF THE MAN

Up to Date All Probable Facts of Her Story Have Been Found to Be True in All Their Minute Details—Autopsy Reveals Nothing.

BY HARRISON CLARK,
Special Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WARRENSBURG, Mo., Oct. 8.—Anna Zella Bentley of St. Louis, sole witness of a murder more atrocious and tragic in all its circumstances than any that was ever before committed in Johnson County, is in desperate fear of death at the hands of the man, her former lover, against whom, after four months of silence, she has informed.

Her story of the murder of "Carl Miller" by Robert Sassaman in the ravine on the old Stueben place, two and one-half miles north of Holden has been proved true by all the tests which Johnson County officials could apply.

The body of the murdered man, featureless and dismembered through the processes of decay, was found in the shallow well on the hill where she said it would be found; the wire-wrapped stone with which the body was weighted, and the long plank with which it was thrust to the bottom of the well, were found. Nearby, where she said Sassaman threw them after the murder, were blackened tin coffee pots which had belonged to "Miller."

In the well was found the sack in which, the woman said, the man wrapped the head of his victim to protect his own hands and clothing from the blood which flowed from the ax wounds in his head.

The scene, as she described it in every respect. All the dumb evidence in every respect. All the dumb evidence in every respect. All the dumb evidence in every respect.

HER NERVE GIVES WAY.
And when it was all proven and the body of the murdered man was given its long deferred burial, the woman was afraid. Her "lover" left her, and she has been the victim of an accusing consciousness of a crime shared were succeeded by blood-chilling expectations of assassination.

"He said he would kill me if I told," she whispered. "I have told and he will kill me."

She said this in the office of Judge Greenwood at Holden as she was signing a recognition to appear as a witness when called. So she was brought by Sheriff Koch to Warrensburg, the county seat.

But she was still afraid, and at night she was taken by officers to a secluded place where there is little fear that any of her enemies can find her, and where she can be guarded by county officials when they need her testimony.

The criminal officials of the county say they are confident of eventually finding Sassaman, but decline to tell where they expect to find him. Sheriff Koch said that Sassaman had been in Kansas City at night and was taken by officers to a secluded place where there is little fear that any of her enemies can find her, and where she can be guarded by county officials when they need her testimony.

THIS MAN CARRIES HIS HEIR IN HARNESS
HEEDLESS OF WORLD'S FAIR COMMENTT. R. Massey of Union City, Tenn.,
Has Improved on the Idea of Papoose's Cradle.

T. R. Massey has seen the Indian squaws at the World's Fair and gone home one better in the matter of baby transportation. He has improved upon the conventional Indian fashion of carrying the youngest member of the family slung to the back. He has invented a harness for carrying his baby on a pillow against his chest.

Mr. Massey, whose home is in Union City, Tenn., has come to St. Louis to see the World's Fair, and he has brought Mrs. Massey and the baby Massey along. Unlike all Indian husbands and most paleface husbands, he does not approve of the women doing all the work of carrying the baby. At the same time, he does not approve of leaving the baby at home with a nurse while the rest of the family are out having a good time.

So he rigged up an arrangement for the baby which is altogether the most unique thing of the sort yet seen at the World's Fair.

Surgeons pass over his shoulders the pillow in place against his chest. On this the baby lies and coos, or cries or sleeps according to the mood of the moment. Mr. Massey, by means of his contrivance, can carry the baby all day without much trouble. The baby is comfortable and contented and is the envy of all the other babies at the World's Fair.

Mr. Massey is a 6 feet tall and strong man. He says he has had a strong attention which is attracted by his demonstration of his baby in the hands of his wife and baby.

CHICAGO PAYS
WHAT IT OWES
TO ST. LOUIS

Mayor Carter Harrison Says the Lake City Has Sent Its Thousands to Discharge Its Obligations for St. Louis' Help.

AIDED WHEN CHICAGO HAD A FIRE AND A FAIR

Great Crowd Sees Parade and Participates in Formal Exercises in Celebration of Chicago Day at the World's Fair.

The 50,000 Chicagoans who are celebrating Chicago day at the World's Fair are paying St. Louis what they owe for the help given by St. Louis to Chicago at the time of the Chicago fire and the Chicago Fair, according to Mayor Carter Harrison.

In his address at the Illinois building he said Chicago was simply paying St. Louis what it owed.

H. M. Dunlap, president of the Illinois Commission, presided at the exercises at the Illinois building. C. J. Doyle, superintendent of the building, presented the greetings of Governor Yates. Addresses of welcome were delivered by President Francis and Mayor Wells. The sisterhood of the two cities was the theme of Mayor Wells.

Mayor Carter Harrison was cheered for three minutes when he arose to respond. He said Chicago was merely paying the debt she owed to St. Louis. When Chicago was fire-swept St. Louis was the first city to offer help and the foremost in aiding Chicago to recover from the fire. When Chicago was a World's Fair, St. Louis was again foremost in patronizing it and advertising it.

It would be a long and difficult task, he said, to compare the two expositions. Chicago would not admit that the White City could ever be equaled and it would be a long time before anybody would admit that the St. Louis Ivory City could be equaled.

The Louisiana Purchase was the backbone of the country, and the Exposition showed that the industry and other traits of the pioneers of the Louisiana territory who in the blood of St. Louis people who had created it.

An address was also delivered by Alderman Francis of Chicago.

A concert was given by the First Illinois Cavalry Band.

During the exercises a very great crowd filled and surrounded the Illinois building. The thirty-third anniversary of the great Chicago fire—Oct. 4, 1871.

While 50,000 Chicagoans were pouring through the gates and getting good positions for the parade, 75 members of the Chicago Press Club, men and women assembled at the Press building. That was not more than half of the members of the club who are in the city. The rest were so busy seeing the Fair that they could not tear themselves away long enough to attend the meeting.

LOSS OF PET DOG
CAUSE OF ILLNESS

Titled English Lady on Verge of Nervous Prostration After Dog Catchers' Visit.

Lady Natalie Visick of the titled nobility of England, is reported by her husband, Arthur C. Visick, to be confined to her bed with illness at her apartments, 381 Olive street, because of her keen distress suffered yesterday afternoon upon learning that dog catchers had taken a valuable Toy Pomeranian dog of which Lady Visick is very fond.

The husband called at the Four Courts this morning to ask for the arrest of the dog catchers. He says they leaped from their wagon at Olive and Vandeventer avenues and forcibly snatched the dog from the arms of a colored servant.

Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Dalton asked the captain of the district in which the incident occurred to secure the names of the men, promising Visick that warrants would be issued for them on a charge of having assaulted the servant.

Mr. Visick says the dog was away from the house four hours, and that during this time Lady Visick was on the verge of nervous prostration. When he learned of what had occurred he hurried to the dog pound, where he found the pet of his household in a cage with a hundred mongrels.

He secured the dog and hastened home with it, but the strain upon his wife had been so severe that she did not wholly recover, and is now ill in bed.

Visick weighs 85 pounds, was an entry in the Queen's kennel show, and is said to be the highest class dog of his kind in the world. He is a beaver-colored little fellow, and is well known at Vandeventer and Olive street because of the household's devotion to him. The Visicks' home is at 3 Queen's street, Mayfair West, London.

The final address was made by Ernest McCaffrey, Chicago poet, formerly of St. Louis. His address was a prose poem. His spoke of the Fair as a dream. Its birth had been in a dream, and it would be remembered as a dream. All great things had their origin in dreaming, and all pioneers were dreamers. In years to come, when the cold facts of the Exposition were forgotten, it would be remembered still as a marvelous dream. He was warmly congratulated.

SUBURBAN CAR
GOT WRONG TRACK

Got on Transit Company Rails and Was Pursued Nine Blocks by Olive Street Cars.

Captured by three Transit company cars and held prisoner for nine city blocks, Suburban car No. 201 is rejecting in her escape from duress.

Two other Olive street cars pushed into the curve, their wheels grating gleefully over the capture of the "country cousin."

Motorman Hugh Damon of No. 201 thought he had escaped from the three pursuers at Broadway and Olive street, but there was no switch turning north. With the "country cousin" hanging on her flank like hounds chasing a deer, No. 201 continued her western course, warring from side to side as her laboring wheels looked for a switch leading to the north and safety.

ORLEANS PRINCES
COMING TO ST. LOUIS

Arrive at New York, Inognito, to Spend Six Weeks in This Country.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—The Princes of the House of Orleans arrived today on the French line steamship La Touraine, from Havre, accompanied by Prince Louis of Braganca and his brother, Prince Antoine d'Orleans at Braganca, but the names of the Princes were not given to the press.

They are the sons of Prince Louis Philippe, Count d'Eu, who was a brother of the grandfather of the late King of France. They expect to remain six weeks in the country, visiting St. Louis, Chicago and other cities.

Miss Irene Sutter, daughter of Dr. Otto Sutter of 215 St. Louis avenue, and Lawrence Kohl, have only slightly bruised as the result of being in a runaway early Saturday morning while they were returning home from an entertainment at the home of Mrs. Sutter.

They were both thrown from the buggy to the ground and the vehicle was overturned, but they escaped without serious injury. The runaway occurred near Spring street, where the horse became frightened and started on a gallop.

After running a block the horse reared to one side and threw the buggy and occupants against a telegraph post. The vehicle was partly demolished and the horse was injured.

Both Miss Sutter and Mr. Kohl were able to go to their homes.

CLOUDS TO FOLLOW SUNSHINE

No Rain Expected, However, and No Decided Change in Temperature Looked For.

Chicagoans are given a foretaste of St. Louis typical fall weather today. The return to warmth has come again after a period of chilly days.

Clouds will hover over St. Louis Saturday and Sunday, but no rain will fall to mar the celebration of the visitors from Chicago.

The temperature will remain stationary. The official forecast: "Partly cloudy tonight and Sunday; no decided change in temperature, south to west winds."

Warmer weather prevails east of the Rocky mountains. Only in the lake regions is cold weather felt, the remnant of the cool wave that swept over St. Louis having lodged there.

Somewhat cooler weather also prevails in the upper Missouri valley and north of the Rocky Mountains, where the wave lingered.

WOMAN SEEKING HER FATHER

Mrs. Hattie Coffman Meyers Anxious to Locate Whereabouts of Her Missing Parent.

Mrs. Kattie Coffman Meyers of St. Louis is anxious to locate the whereabouts of her father, Charles Coffman, who 37 years ago lived in Charleston, Ill.

Coffman and his wife separated and she later died in 1880. Her name before she married was Mary Miller. She was the daughter of Ezra Miller.

Coffman was a wealthy farmer of Charleston.

Mrs. Meyers claims that when a child her father made an attempt to steal her from her mother.

BUTLER BUSY IN PRIMARIES OF REPUBLICANS

Despite the Assertions of Party Leaders That "Harmony Prevails," Many Keen Contests Are Being Waged in Preliminaries Today.

SEVEN WARDS FURNISH FIELD FOR "MACHINE" WORK.

Butler's Support of Schawacker in Fifth and Weeke in the Seventeenth May Have Decided Effect on Monday's Convention.

All is not harmony within the Republican ranks, according to certain St. Louis Republican leaders who will fight desperately for party supremacy at the primaries which open at 1 o'clock this afternoon and close at 5.

The convention will be held Monday at Harmonie hall, at Eighteenth and Olive streets.

The Republicans will select candidates for five places on the circuit bench; circuit attorney, assistant circuit attorney, sheriff, coroner and public administrator in opposition to the Democratic candidates nominated Tuesday.

Keen contests will be waged in the Third, Fifth, Ninth, Fifteenth, Sixteenth, Seventeenth and Twenty-fourth wards.

N. A. Polito and Otto Emmendorfer head the Third ward delegations. Polito represents the "radicals" and Emmendorfer the conservative Republicans.

In the Fifth ward the friends of Joe Schuler, whose delegation is opposed by Chris Schawacker, charge the Butler men with unnecessary interference.

In fact, they say Butler is openly supporting Schawacker. Schuler's lieutenants say they cannot understand the boss' attitude.

They point out that when Butler's case was called to trial at Fulton, Joe Schuler volunteered himself as a witness for the defense, but the attorneys for Butler decided at the last moment not to use him.

The Butler cohorts are also going to the aid of Delegate Henry Weeke in the seventeenth ward. The contesting delegation is headed by Thomas J. Roche.

Weeke has always befriended Butler in the House of Delegates and Democratic Central Committee. Tom Quinn will also help the St. Louis leaders.

It appears that Weeke and Quinn have formed a political alliance for defensive purposes, but it does not extend further than the primary elections.

At the recent primaries the Weeke forces went to Quinn's rescue and enabled him to carry the ward. Now the Quinn men will do likewise for Weeke, and this support, added to what he will receive from the Butlers, makes the betting on the Weeke ticket about 2 to 1.

Passing to the Twenty-fourth ward, where a bitter struggle is in progress between former Chief Deputy City Marshal Fred Smith and Charles W. Rutledge, the Butler faction finds that its services are needed again.

When the Southern Telegraph Co. of which "Col." Butler was the proprietor, needed employees, a round-up of several old city employees, among them Smith, was made. Smith was made "head bouncer" in the telegraph company's poolroom and occupied that position until the place was closed.

In today's contest Smith is opposed by Ruthless W. Rutledge, a well-known lawyer, who lives at 388 E. 14th avenue.

In the Fifteenth ward, the delegation headed by Norman B. Johnson is counting on the support of the Butlers. Johnson's competitor is F. W. Schlingman, a city employee.

Butler, therefore, is to fight almost as strenuously to aid his friends in today's primaries as his lieutenants fought to save himself a week ago.

At Republican headquarters the report has been given out daily that "there are no contests." It develops that upon the outcome of today's contests will largely

MUNYON'S ADVISE

Is to Let Drastic, Debilitating and Dangerous Drugs Alone.

YOU ARE SAFE

When You Pin Your Faith to Munyon's Homeopathic Home Remedies.

The best medical thought of the world coincides with me when I unhesitatingly state that "drugs are dangerous drugs" and that the people take too much strong medicines of which they know nothing.

My remedies are powerful and will arrest disease with greater promptness than any other remedies known, but they are also harmless. That is why I call them "Home Remedies."

If you have any troublesome ailment of whatever nature, even though the doctor may have pronounced it incurable, it is due you and your family to at once try what I can do for you. I have spent hundreds of thousands of dollars in perfecting my remedies and for a few pennies you can have the benefit of it.

Don't let another day pass without giving these remedies a trial. Thousands of others have been cured by them, why not you?

SUNSHINE MOCKS THIS PRETTY WOMAN WHO WOODED DEATH

MRS. JENNIE KINDER

Victim of Disease and Domestic Discord Who Failed at Suicide Insists She Doesn't Want to Live.

Mrs. Jennie M. Kinder turns her face away from the sunlight which streams through the windows of the City Hospital today and closes her eyes. Its brightness mocks her.

Friday afternoon it was her wish that she would not see the dawn of another day on earth. She failed in her purpose of leaving a world in which there is no brightness for her and she is not grateful that she has been saved from death by her own hand.

She is still in the slough of despond in which she was when she swallowed chloroform in a retiring room on the fourth floor of Barr's store Friday afternoon.

Efforts of her St. Louis relatives to cheer her have had little effect and the kindly attentions of hospital attendants form in a retiring room on the fourth floor thoughts of death.

There is only one thing that it is likely to cause her to tolerate the extension of life which has been forced upon her. Her mother, separation from whom contributed to the depressed condition of mind which resulted in her attempt to kill herself, is depend on the personnel of the Republican ticket.

This much is certain: If the Republican gangsters, aided by Butler, go on the ticket, which the Republican leaders sprang for circuit attorney, up to the present time those mentioned as circuit attorneys are: Arthur N. Sager, John S. Leahy, George B. Sidener and W. E. Fish. For assistant circuit attorney, S. G. Jones, R. M. Johnson and Charles Summerville have been put forward.

George B. Sidener, former judge of the City Hall Police Court, is counting on the support of the Butlers.

The old gang men also favor "Dix" Johnson for assistant circuit attorney.

The Leeper and Mayole plantations adjoin each other in Matanzas, and the two young men came here together. Pedro spoke little English and Jose seldom let him out of his sight. Jose had invited the ticket, with friends in West Eighty-fourth street. In the midst of the meal he pushed his chair from the table and said:

"You must pardon me, but I fear some thing has happened to my friend Pedro. I must go to him."

He went at once to their boarding-house at 138 West Fourteenth street, and was told that Pedro was in his room. Jose went upstairs and burst open the door, and his friend almost overpowered by gas.

THE issue between the Republicans favoring a tip-top ticket and one not tainted with Butlerism will be fought out at the primaries, which the Republican leaders have advertised extensively as "harmonious" and indicated that they are confined merely to local contests. The result of the contests in the contested wards may change the entire complexion of Monday's convention.

SON IS SUSPECTED IN POISON PLOT

Prosecutor Tells Young Jim Mulligan He Is Likely to Be Arrested on Negro's Story.

WAS DEFIANT AS WITNESS

Stepmother Testimony Tells of Origin of Trouble in the Judge's Family.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Oct. 8.—Young Jim Mulligan may be arrested today for complicity in the attempted poisoning of the family of his father, James Mulligan, Sr., former consul to Samoa. This development has given new life to the already sensational-filled affair. The negro, Louis Mitchell, who served the poisoned soup, has confessed that young Jim said him to do it.

His trial is being held and young Mulligan was put on the stand late Friday afternoon.

The young man was defiant, and after denying every allegation made in the negro's confession, turned angrily to the prosecutor, Col. Allen, and said:

"If you think I'm guilty have me arrested."

The prosecutor told him that his desire was likely to be granted.

Mrs. Mulligan, who is Judge Mulligan's second wife, told how she had tried to further her stepson's good ambitions, and how he had always turned upon her because his sister, Miss Mollie Mulligan, left home. He accused his father of running her away at Mrs. Mulligan's instance.

Once, she said, while Judge Mulligan was consul to Samoa, and she was on route to that country to join him, she met in San Francisco Mrs. Robert Louis Stevenson, who was returning from Samoa. She said that Mrs. Stevenson advised her to do something with young Jim upon her arrival here, as he was unable to get used to the natives and that she feared if he remained there much longer he would lose his mind.

Detective Marshall said this morning that another arrest will probably be made by night.

Boy Cyclist Injures Woman.

The police are searching for a 15-year-old boy, who, while riding on a bicycle on the sidewalk in front of 645 Easton avenue, ran against Mrs. Lida Burlingame of 235A Semple avenue. Mrs. Burlingame was knocked down. She sustained a fracture of the right wrist, a dislocation of the left wrist and severe bruises about the body. She was taken to her home, 235A Semple avenue, from where, but not waiting to learn the extent of Mrs. Burlingame's injuries, mounted again and rode rapidly away.

Repeatedly she obtained good positions, only to get sick and have to give them up. This, coupled with the fact that she was lonely, having no near relatives in the city, caused her to fall a prey to depression.

"I will not be here in the fall," she said more than once to Mrs. C. H. Reader, with whom she lived at 467 E. 14th boulevard, and she was obliged to give up the teaching of a music class and later to give up one position after another on account of her health.

Repeatedly she obtained good positions, only to get sick and have to give them up. This, coupled with the fact that she was lonely, having no near relatives in the city, caused her to fall a prey to depression.

CHICAGO DAY.

Hail, Chi!
We're glad to meet you
And greet you,
And give you the merry eye,
And treat you
To the best we've got,
And help you have a hot
Old time
In this old town.
And do the job up brown.
To lag behind will be a crime,
And to renege
On anything that bears our sig.
Will be to get a hot
Swat.
That's what!
We've got
A lot
To show you here today.
And any man who runs away
Or hollers
"Enough!"
Why, he'll be fined one thousand dollars,
And that's no bluff.
We've got a show out here on Skinker
Road,
With which no critic dares to tinker,
Because it's too much for the thinker
Of any mortal
Who yet has passed the portal.
And when we've showed
You all the wonders there
At the aforesaid Fair—
There'll be enough, we hope, of you
To fill the place to overflowing.
And save our checkerboard
Attendance record—
Why, then, we're going
To take you out,
With mirth and shout,
And open up a little paint;
(Oh, hush!)
And every man shall have a brush
With a long handle,
And if there isn't loud complaint
Or a big scandal
Ere morning's light,
When we get going right,
Well, it will be a wonder!
Hail, Merry Chi!
With the laughing eye!
Come, help us tear the skies asunder!

MOST WONDERFUL HORSE IN WORLD

His Mental Powers Exceed Those of Many Human Beings.

From the New York Press.
Prof. G. Schweinfurth, the celebrated German psychologist, has made a report on the "Wonder Horse" Hans, which has been educated to an amazing degree by his owner, Herr von Osten, as told recently in the Press. Prof. Schweinfurth examined the animal carefully in company with Dr. Studdt, the Prussian minister of education, and Privy Councillor Prof. Moebius, the scientist. He says:
"The stallion Hans appears extremely quiet and sedate. He is never whipped and he wears no harness, but is left perfectly free. Only when he is to be led aside is a halter used on him. At all other times he is governed simply by verbal orders such as 'left,' 'right,' etc.
"He seems to have complete knowledge of the German language and German Gothic writing, for he answered all questions (even those asked by strangers) without hesitation and almost always with absolute accuracy.
"I estimate that he makes five errors in every hundred answers. But these errors are only trivial, such as, for instance, when he counts 30 instead of 31.
"His only method of expression is by stamps of his hoof. Every sound is represented by two numerals, which he indicates by successive stamps of his right forefoot. On a blackboard the sounds are written out with their numerals for the benefit of the invited spectators.
"If the word 'Abel' for instance, is written on a piece of paper and held up before the horse, and the question is put to him, 'In which row on the blackboard is the first letter?' he will stamp, once with his hoof. Ask him then, 'What letter is it?' and he will stamp once again, 'meaning the first letter.' Then he will proceed to spell out the word.

"A gentleman named Stephany pronounced his name to the stallion and asked him to spell it out. The stallion stamped his hoof—so many times, signifying S, so many times, signifying T, and so on. When he came to P he stamped his foot a number of times that signified F. Then he went on correctly to A, N and Y. He had, as will be seen, spelled the name phonetically. When he was told that he was wrong he spelled it over again and this time his hoof beats spelled P and H.
"The horse can express every spoken or written word, and although the mode of expression may seem to be laborious and tedious, in reality the wonderful animal expresses itself very quickly and without any pause or hesitation.
"When it comes to figures, especially those that run into large amounts, one must follow very closely in order to keep pace with the horse. The last figure in a calculation is usually announced by a smart stroke of his left forefoot; and when that occurs, the answer is always accurate without exception.
"The fact must not be concealed that the interest of the horse must be kept alive by constant presentation of small pieces of bread and carrots. 'Without reward, men wouldn't do anything either,' said his owner to me.
"Of the incredibly numerous and almost endlessly various problems presented by the stallion, most surprising to me were those that involved his sense of hearing. He can distinguish all tones perfectly, simple as well as harmonic, can tell all musical measures, etc., in a manner that could be equaled only by an educated musician. I cannot tell when two, three or four tones are struck simultaneously on an instrument; the stallion can, and he does it with confidence.
"There is much to think about, too, in his ocular power, which, according to anatomists, is not so well developed in horses as are the other senses. For instance, a chart with big geometrical figures is hung up before him. Then some of them are copied in miniature on a small slate and shown to Hans. At once he indicates with his hoof what position the corresponding figures occupy on the big chart.
"It is well known that the human eye often does not recognize pictorial representations. This is a noticeable characteristic of Arabs. We know also that animals do not pay any attention to pictures.
"The stallion can recognize persons from photographs, even though the photographs be very poor ones!
"A number of men were placed before him. A season railroad pass, which bore the picture of the owner in small half-tone engraving in one corner, was shown to the horse. At once the animal denoted with taps of his hoof the position in the line of men of the original of the picture. The famous animal painter, Prof. Paul Meyerheim, had the same experience with Hans.
"The most wonderful feats are those depending on the horse's ability to grasp numbers and his talent for mathematical calculation. The stallion has really learned to figure. He can add and subtract with the greatest of ease. He knows that, in order to make a whole number of 4-6 for instance he must add 4-6. He converts common fractions into decimals and so quickly that it is difficult sometimes for a human being to follow him.
"His memory seems to be equal to the greatest demands. He can tell the days on which Sundays fall in any month. He can tell the day of the week for the Emperor's birthday throughout several years.
"There is not room enough here to sketch even the most prominent features of his intellectual ability. The horse is a problem for philosophers and psychologists such as perhaps never before has appeared in the animal world."

"As Rome Done."

It is said that the Hon. Henry Cassaway Davis' speech of acceptance was judiciously edited before being given to the press, with a view to smoothing out its little eccentricities of syntax. Some wicked Republican papers declare that Mr. Davis, waxing eloquent over the dangers of imperialism, cried out appealingly: "Don't let us do as Athens done." If this be true, Mr. Davis had at least good Republican precedent for it. The confusion of the participle with the imperfect indicative was a linguistic trademark of Gen. John A. Logan, who was Mr. Blaine's running mate in 1884. We can recall one tremendous burst of his eloquence, which consisted of a series of climaxes. Gen. Logan was enumerating the great political deeds of the preceding 10 years, and after setting forth each one in glowing colors, he would pause and say in a thrilling crescendo: "And, fellow citizens, who does it? Who does it? Feller citizens, we done it! The Republican party done it!"—From Chronicle and Comment in the October Bookman.

Police Lieutenants Are Reprimanded by Board for Absenting Themselves From Duty Without Leave.

The board of police commissioners has reprimanded Lieut. Alphonse Gulon and John T. English of the Third and Seventh districts, respectively, for leaving their post of duty without permission to attend the wake of Patrolman George Geckle, who was detailed in the Eighth district, died two weeks ago, and as the two lieutenants were on their way to a street car, injuring them. Their injuries and absence from duty were not immediately reported to Chief of Police Kiley and the matter thus came before the attention of the board.

At the board meeting Friday, as told in late editions of Friday's Post-Dispatch, it was decided on Police day, October 20, to award the gold medal for bravery during the past year to Patrolman James Dockery of the Carr street station; Detective Michael Cronin and Special Officer John A. Finnan will receive medals for the best arrest as a result of their work in the Eads house murder mystery. Patrolman Sidney Sears of Central district will get the medal for best marksmanship.

SOCIETY MAN KILLS WIFE, THEN HIMSELF

Nine-Year-Old Daughter Witnesses Tragedy Caused by Husband's Suspicions.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—Believing that he had been deceived by his wife, Alfred Fryer, manager of a hay and produce company, shot her fatally early today in their home at Newark, N. J.

Fryer then turned the revolver on himself, his body falling across that of his wife. The only daughter of the couple, 9 years old, was sleeping in an adjoining room at the time the tragedy occurred. Awakened by the shots she rushed into the room only to see her father fall dead.

Mrs. Fryer was still alive when the police arrived, but died soon after she reached the hospital.

The little girl ran in her night clothing, to a neighbor's house. She said her father, who was only 35 years old, had remained up-later than usual writing letters. Mrs. Fryer was shot as she slept.

The couple were well known in Newark society and occupied a handsome home.

CHILLS OF WINTER INDUCE THE FILIPINOS TO WEAR CLOTHING

NEGROTS DRESSED FOR COLD WEATHER

Even the Igorrotes Submit to Flannel Covering but Refuse to Adopt in Its Entirety the Garb of the White Man

The Moro Village in the Philippine exhibition at the World's Fair has been transformed. The biting cold weather, heretofore unknown to the dark-skinned natives of Moro, is responsible. Every member of the village has donned in part the garb of Americans and is saying "Cold, cold," to all questions.

The Moros are willing to wear flannels and coats, but they draw the line at shoes and stockings. Nothing could induce them to cover their feet and as a consequence many have taken colds since the advent of chilly weather.

Some of the Moros sleep in light bamboo structures over Arrowhead lake, and at night they become extremely cold.

The Igorrotes are still against the clothes habit, but many have been induced to wear flannel covering over their shoulders. They are averse to anything like an entire covering, however.

Philippine Exposition officials have been measuring all the savage tribesmen of the Philippines for winter clothes. Some will be given flannels, others mere shawls, but the officials think they may be induced to wear even more clothing when the weather gets colder.

CANDIDATE'S KISS THREATENS PARTY

Montana Republicans Fear Loss of State Through Indiscretion of Candidate for State Senator.

BUTTE, Mont., Oct. 8.—A curious and serious Republican issue has been raised in Montana because of a kiss which State Senator W. F. Meyers of Carbon county stole from the unwilling lips of a young society girl of Red Lodge last Saturday evening.

The papers and correspondents of Red Lodge are protesting the name of the girl, but reports from all over the eastern part of the state are that the affair threatens to defeat the Republican ticket in Carbon and adjoining counties, and thereby endanger the Republican control of the legislature and the election of a Republican United States senator.

Thomas H. Carter, candidate for senator, has been appealed to by the Republican party to withdraw from the ticket, and a similar petition has been received by Lee Mantle, chairman of the state central committee. Meyers refuses to resign.

The Red Lodge Picket, the leading Republican paper in eastern Montana, today bolted the ticket because of the kissing affair, denouncing it as "The infamy of the thing." County Attorney Samuel, a candidate for reelection, has resigned, refusing to run on the same ticket with Meyers, and County Chairman Sell refuses to support the "Kissing Bug," as Meyers is called.

If you want to buy a souvenir you will find it at the Oriental Bazaar, 304 N. Broadway. This bazaar carries a collection of grand Oriental goods, such as silk, linen embroidery, tea cloths, table covers and spreads, piano covers, and lacquer ware. Also carved sandal wood, carved ivory, and carved wood furniture. The goods are sold at 50 per cent lower than at the World's Fair. All goods must be sold within two months. Come and examine these goods.

BLANKETS PROTECT FLOWERS.

Frost Will Be Fought by Landscape Gardeners at World's Fair.

Forty thousand square feet of burlap cover the flower beds and sunken gardens on frosty nights at the World's Fair. The blankets, the largest of which is 3740 feet, were first used Thursday night, by the landscape department of the Exposition, who hope to thus save the flowers until November, when they will be removed to the Exposition greenhouses.

Nearly a hundred men will be required to look after the plants during the cool weather.

PHILIPPINE BAND MAY TOUR.

Musicians Receive Invitations to Play in All the Larger Cities.

If the Philippine Islands government will grant the necessary leave of absence, the Philippine Constabulary Band, which has been one of the features of the World's Fair, will make a tour of the United States after the close of the Exposition.

The band has received invitations from all the large cities in the country and the ovation the Philippine commission received during its tour leads the musicians to think that they might be accorded something similar.

SCHOONER WRECKED BY STRIKING WHALE

Capt. Madsen and Crew Labored Day and Night While Waiting for Help.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 8.—Capt. Christian Madsen and his crew of six men of the Danish schooner Annam have been landed here by Capt. Benjamin Jones of the steamship Quermore. Capt. Jones took the shipwrecked mariners off the foundering vessel in the middle of the North Atlantic ocean last Friday.

"On the Tuesday before Capt. Jones picked us up," said Capt. Madsen, "about 4 o'clock in the afternoon an enormous whale rose to the surface off our bows and charged straight for us. We were sailing slowly along in a four-knot breeze. Before we could do a thing the whale struck us, head on, smashing the stem of the schooner and carrying away four feet of her bows. The shock was tremendous and threw those on deck off their feet.

The whale passed along the starboard side, blowing streams of water as high as the schooner, but directly rolled over on its side and was evidently mortally wounded. As the water was discolored all around, the fact we saw of our assailant it was blowing about three feet high and it was plainly dying.

"The Annam immediately began to fill with water and the crew was put to the pumps. By what patching we could do and by tremendous efforts at the pumps we managed to keep the vessel afloat until Friday morning, when Capt. Jones rescued us."

The Annam was a schooner of 156 tons register and was built three years ago.

Eighteen Miners Drowned.

DESSAU, Duchy of Anhalt, Germany, Oct. 8.—It is now known that all of the 18 miners imprisoned by a sudden rush of water and mud in the Leopold Brown coal mine, near Koethen, on Thursday are dead. The bodies of the men cannot be reached.
